

Lindsey youth wins state severe weather poster contest

Submitted 10:27 a.m. EDT August 8, 2016

COLUMBUS - Grace Draeger, a fifth grader from Lindsey in Sandusky County, was recognized on Aug. 6 at the Ohio State Fair as an overall state winner in a statewide severe weather poster contest. Her watercolor poster on tornado safety was entered in the 2015-16 school year. Its message was “When the tornado sirens whines, Eyes to the sky and look for signs!”

She received awards and prizes included a $100 U.S. savings bond, letter from the governor, a trophy and more. She was among six students from the state selected as a statewide winner - one for each grade first through sixth.