

January 28, 2009

Students of the month

Fremont Schools

In an effort to recognize young boys and girls who are positive forces with their classmates and community at large, the Learning and Liberty Foundation of the Fremont City Schools and Old Fort Bank have announced the December students of the month winners.

The students and their parents were recognized at the board of education meeting where they received a savings bond and an engraved trophy.

Second-graders

Atkinson Elementary

Savannah Mitchell, daughter of Nicole Davis, is a student in Connie Snyder's class. Savannah enjoys being with her family. She spends a lot of her free time making beaded jewelry, rollerblading and riding her bike.

Savannah is a model student in the classroom and a friend to all, according to her nomination form. She is always helpful and friendly to everyone around her. Savannah is also quite thoughtful and caring to her peers and adults.

Croghan Elementary

Joshua Bork, son of Jordan and Christina Bork, is a student in Tonya Cook's class. Joshua enjoys football and basketball. He also likes to attend Fremont Ross football games.

In the classroom, Josh is an excellent student who is always willing to help the teacher and other students. His helpful attitude is an example to others and he creates a positive attitude in his class, according to his nomination form.

Stamm Elementary

Gillian Gallagher is the daughter of Heidi and Gregg Gallagher and a student in Mrs. Batey's class. Gallagher enjoys singing and dancing. She spends much of her spare time reading Junie B. Jones books. Gallagher was nominated because she is kind to others as well as always being polite and respectful of others. She is a very determined young lady who never gives up.

Gallagher always takes time out of her day to help others. Gallagher is a positive role model and a pleasure having in class according to her nomination form.

Hayes Elementary

Tiavonna Keckler, daughter of Ambrosia and Donald Keckler and is a student in Kourtney Jared's class. Keckler likes to spend time reading books and playing with her friends. Her favorite sport is soccer and her favorite subjects are art, science and reading. Keckler is a star student. Since the first day of school. Keckler has worked hard and fully respected herself, her peers and teacher. She can always be counted on to be a model for other students to follow, according to her nomination form.

Lutz Elementary

Jordan Relford, daughter of Lisa Relford and Rick Singleton, is a student in Julie Villarreal's class. Jordan likes to play tag with her friends at recess. Coloring and ice skating are two favorite activities. She is also learning to play hockey from her big brother, Relford.

Relford leads by wonderful example. She is strong academically as well as in character. Relford gets along with others nicely, is courteous and respectful and sought-out by others. She can be counted on to do her best and treat others as she wants to be treated. Relford knows how to live "The Golden Rule" according to her nomination form.

Otis Elementary

Jasmine Mercado, daughter of Melissa and Jose Merado, is a student in Lisa Sachs's class. Jasmine likes to read and write stories. She is a sweet, responsible young lady. Mercado is always prepared for class and does her best.

Mercado works well with everyone by being a good citizen. In her classroom, she serves as a great role model and helps create a positive learning environment. Sachs feels it is a pleasure having Mercado in her classroom.

Washington Elementary

Chloe Duquette, daughter of Helon and Dale Duquette, is a student in Patricia Shay's class. Duquette likes to make projects and color. She is active in Girl Scouts and plays on a soccer team. Duquette enjoys riding her bike and walking her dog, Sunny. Her favorite subject is math.

Duquette is also very creative. She is a hard worker and always gives her best effort. According to her nomination form, school is really important to Duquette and she feels everyone should come every day.
