Storybook Festival Saturday at Ross

NEWS-MESSENGER REPORTS

FREMONT -- The annual Sandusky County Storybook Festival takes place this weekend at Fremont Ross High School.

The event is from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the school, located at 1100 North Street.

The community project is for all families with children one to eight years old.

This year, the theme for the event will be Curious George and the "Man in the Yellow Hat," said Danielle McDonald of United Way of Sandusky County.

"We're really excited," McDonald said.

The day's activities include a performance from ventriloquist Lynn Trefzger, hands-on activities, readings and food and drink.

The festival includes a guest visit from educational singer/songwriter Debbie Clement, whose released a series "Debbie's Ditties" releases.

The literacy based event was sponsored by several organizations in the area: Time Warner Cable, Bellevue, Clyde and Birchard Public libraries, United Way of Sandusky County, Fremont City Schools LRC, Sandusky County Board of MRDD, OSU Extension of Sandusky County, Sandusky County Health Department, Sandusky County Department of Job and Family Services, North Central Ohio Educational Service Center, WSOS Child Development, WSOS New Directions and Rainbow Station Preschool.
