

September 16, 2009

Bank to host college preview night

Submitted story

Fifth Third Bank will present a free college preview night hosted at Fifth Third Field, home of the Mud Hens, Sept. 29 for high school juniors and seniors and their parents.

On site from 5:30 to 8 p.m. will be 13 colleges and universities, including Terra Community College, Bowling Green State University and the University of Toledo, to offer materials and answer questions about admissions, financial aid and scholarship opportunities. Local experts will offer tips on transitioning to college and how to stretch dollars earmarked for college.

A highlight of the evening will be scholarship opportunities. Eight scholarships of $1,000 each will be presented by Fifth Third Bank and two additional scholarships will be presented by Bowling Green State University and Lourdes College. Winners must be present. Students who are 18 or parents can enter to win. One entry per family.

Among the other colleges represented are Lourdes College, Owens Community College, University of Findlay, Tiffin University, Heidelberg University, Monroe Community College, Defiance College, Hillsdale College, Northwest State Community College and Bluffton University.

Registration is encouraged, but not required, and is available on the Mud Hens Web site, www.MudHens.com/collegenight.
